
February 14 - 18, 2023

The U.S.-Mexico Foundation partnered with CAST Schools to bring 17 high-school students and 10 teachers from the San Antonio area to Mexico City and meet with relevant stakeholders from the public, private and social sectors. During the meetings, the U.S.-Mexico 360 cohort expanded their knowledge on Mexican politics and government, economy, industry, education, trade, media, and advocacy. The five-day trip included a cultural immersion to the country through food and art.

Speakers included:

- Martha Smith, Founder, U.S.-Mexico Foundation
- Juan Manuel González, CEO, Teach for Mexico
- Roberto Quiroz, Cultural Attaché, U.S. Embassy in Mexico
- Salomón Chertorivski, Congressman
- Roberto Velasco, Chief Officer for North America, Secretary of Foreign Relations
- Giovanni Lepri, Representative, UNHCR
- Laylah Garcia Mora, Commercial Director, El Pinche Gringo Barbecue
- Rogelio Arzate, Director of Government Relations and Institutional Affairs, General Motors
- Adriana Tostado, Communications Manager, Cinépolis
- Patricio Caso, Senior Director, Government Affairs, The Coca Cola Company
- Fernanda Caso, Journalist

The trip also included cultural visits to a Lucha Libre exhibition, Museo del Palacio de Bellas Artes, Museo del Chocolate, and a tour around the main areas of the city.
